Cooper's Car Sails Over Edge of Saucer, Pinning Him Underneath; Ralph De Palma

the Munice, fown, Aur. 7.—Two killed and two hilused, one probably facally, marked the initial 200-mile automobile deeley on the new mile appendix free finish, advance in which finish, advance in which finish, advance in which flalph dePalma was declared the winner, Ralph Mulford second and Esdie O'Donnell third.

Jos Conper was killed during the thirty-eighth kip of the race when he car iterally sailed over the outer edge of the bowl, as he was mearing the grandstand, and landed outside, with Cooper and his mechanican, Louis Piol, pouned underneath the

The account archient came near the chose of the race when, in the 228th fape, fillly Chandler's car crashed analyst the inside rail, almost opposite ine point where Cooper had the his deaft. Morris R. Keeler, Chandler's mechanizan, died at the his pital tonight. Chandler has less than an even chance for retovery, according to the physicians. Piet one of the victims of the first accident, was reported also to be in a critical condition with better prospects, however, than the others.

Cooper's skull was erashed in the first secident and his death was pracrically instantaneous. Rector's injur-ies are a broken right shoulder and hip, fractured collarhone, and concus-sion of the brain. Chandler went in-to convulsions while being taken to the hospital, where it was found that he suffered a broken left hip, and in-ternal injuries.

The blow-outs were as ribed as the cause, although in the case of Couper, is braken steering knuckle was said in have been the immediate reusen for his loss of control. After striking the ground outside the track, the momen-tum of the car was so great that it crushed into the and of the grand stand and forced its way under the structure. Officials and Cooper was an hour at the time.

Chandler's wife was in the grand stand when her husband went through the side track fence. She rushed to his side and later accompanied him to the hospital. At the hospital Chandler recovered consciousness for a few moments, and his first question was about Cooper He had not learned of Cooper's death and the fact was kept from him.

The race (built was full of the like aside from its tragic features. For most of the 300 miles it was a nip and most of the 200 miles it was a nip and tuck affair between de Polma, Mulford and O'Donnell, the former keeping the lead the greater part of the time. In the last fifteen miles, however, he developed a run of bad luck with his tires, which threatened to lose him first place, but he forsed about in the last three miles, and crossed the line ahead of Mulford. So close were the two beaders that the lintges were for several minutes divided as to who had won. The first ancomement was that Mulford was the victor, but this was quickly chained and the official announcement gave de Palms the price.
